

Questions for Homegroups

Matthew 1:1-17

- Why do you think Abraham, David the exile and Jesus form the three great points in Matthew's genealogy? Could you summarise the message of the Bible using these points?
- Is Matthew fair to reduce the sections of the genealogy to sets of fourteen generations when in reality it was more complicated than that? What is Matthew trying to say?
- Consider some of the characters in the genealogy and for each one try to put into a sentence what Matthew would say about them beginning "God keeps his promises..."
- Why is this important for us? What difference does it make to your life that God keeps his promises?
- What element of God's many promises to believers do you most need to know and believe right now?

Questions for Homegroups

Matthew 1:1-17

- Why do you think Abraham, David the exile and Jesus form the three great points in Matthew's genealogy? Could you summarise the message of the Bible using these points?
 - Is Matthew fair to reduce the sections of the genealogy to sets of fourteen generations when in reality it was more complicated than that? What is Matthew trying to say?
 - Consider some of the characters in the genealogy and for each one try to put into a sentence what Matthew would say about them beginning "God keeps his promises..."
 - Why is this important for us? What difference does it make to your life that God keeps his promises?
- What element of God's many promises to believers do you most need to know and believe right now?

Questions for Homegroups

Matthew 1:1-17

- Why do you think Abraham, David the exile and Jesus form the three great points in Matthew's genealogy? Could you summarise the message of the Bible using these points?
- Is Matthew fair to reduce the sections of the genealogy to sets of fourteen generations when in reality it was more complicated than that? What is Matthew trying to say?
- Consider some of the characters in the genealogy and for each one try to put into a sentence what Matthew would say about them beginning "God keeps his promises..."
- Why is this important for us? What difference does it make to your life that God keeps his promises?
- What element of God's many promises to believers do you most need to know and believe right now?