

Questions for Homegroups

---

Psalm 130

- Do you think your attitude to your sin is too casual, too obsessive or just right?
- What are the important things that the psalmist knows about God which prompted him to write this psalm?
- Why does God's forgiveness lead us to fear him (v4)?
- Why does the psalmist talk of waiting for the Lord? Is this passive? What might this look like in a Christian's life today?
- What are the reasons for putting our hope in God in vv7-8? How does each of the truths mentioned affect our attitude to our sin?
- How does this psalm change your attitude to your sin? What wrong conclusions could you draw from this psalm?
- How can the homegroup better help one another to deal with the reality of sin in our lives?

Questions for Homegroups

---

Psalm 130

- Do you think your attitude to your sin is too casual, too obsessive or just right?
  - What are the important things that the psalmist knows about God which prompted him to write this psalm?
  - Why does God's forgiveness lead us to fear him (v4)?
  - Why does the psalmist talk of waiting for the Lord? Is this passive? What might this look like in a Christian's life today?
  - What are the reasons for putting our hope in God in vv7-8? How does each of the truths mentioned affect our attitude to our sin?
  - How does this psalm change your attitude to your sin? What wrong conclusions could you draw from this psalm?
- How can the homegroup better help one another to deal with the reality of sin in our lives?

Questions for Homegroups

---

Psalm 130

- Do you think your attitude to your sin is too casual, too obsessive or just right?
  - What are the important things that the psalmist knows about God which prompted him to write this psalm?
  - Why does God's forgiveness lead us to fear him (v4)?
  - Why does the psalmist talk of waiting for the Lord? Is this passive? What might this look like in a Christian's life today?
  - What are the reasons for putting our hope in God in vv7-8? How does each of the truths mentioned affect our attitude to our sin?
  - How does this psalm change your attitude to your sin? What wrong conclusions could you draw from this psalm?
- How can the homegroup better help one another to deal with the reality of sin in our lives?