

1 Corinthians 14:1-25

What experience, if any, have you had of prophecy and tongues? What has been positive/negative about that experience?

From this passage, how would you describe these gifts? What are they for?

Paul would rather people prophesy than speak in tongues. What is the principle behind that preference?

How does that link with chapter 13? Think also about nonChristians who might be present...

Do you think that these gifts should have a place in church life today? Why/why not?

How might that work, if we stick to Paul's guidelines?

What would we do differently in church/homegroup?

How large a role should different gifts play in our time together?

How would we make sure we kept a focus on love and building each other up?
