

This week we started a new Autumn series in 1 Peter.

We were thinking this morning, particularly, about the idea of hope and how we can have it if we are believers, regardless of circumstance. Peter pointed initially to our status as believers, then to the past and future work of Christ, and finally to our privileged position in salvation history.

- Do you feel you have hope? Why or why not?
- Have a look at the passage from v1-12, what reasons for hope does Peter lay out for believers?
- Can these things be taken away? Why or why not?
- How do they change your tomorrow morning?
- How can we get better at remembering the hope we have?
