We thought about the fact that we have a GENEROUS Father in Heaven, the story of the bible is a story of our generous God. He is generous in both creation and recreation, and then 5 aspects to chew over for the week ahead:

- 1) We're often very entitled (which is why we're not very thankful).
- 2) In salvation God gives us no less than himself (we were made for relationships not stuff).
- 3) What you're willing to pay, shows how much you love (we are deeply loved).
- 4) God doesn't necessarily give us what we want (but he gives us what we need).
- 5) It's ok to enjoy things (we don't have to be in sackcloth and ashes).

- do you think of God as being generous? Were there any elements of the bible overview that we considered that struck you?
- Which of the 5 aspects above most resonated or challenged you?
- do you think you're a generous person? What do you think generosity means?
